Reader: This is the news at noon.

As a result of a CP9 meeting at eleven o'clock this morning, it appears that a Buster Call was made on manga creator Eiichiro Oda's house.

Everyone who lives nearby-- everyone except Eiichiro Oda--should evacuate immediately.

--Zolo's Wife

Oda: Whaat?! A Buster Call?! Uh-oh!! But I...!! I...!! I can't run away!! Because children all over the country are waiting for the Question Corner!!!

(↑Not really.)

Q: Dear Oda Sensei. This is about Robin's Cinco Fleurs. What language are Robin's attacks in? And how about a new attack called "Stinko Fleurs"?

--Heita

A: I see... The word cinco reminds you of stinko, so you're saying she should have a fart attack? You're awful! We're talking about a technique for the lovely Robin!! Stinko... That's GOOD! As for what language it is, haven't I answered that before? Oh, well. It's Spanish, so it goes...

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Uno	Dos	Tres	Cuatro	Cinco	Seis	Siete	Ocho	Nueve	Diez

...like that. You've heard some of these before, haven't you?

Q: Is the origin for Sodomu and Gomora the depraved towns of Sodom and Gomorrah in the Old Testament? Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed by God. Did you decide to have the World Government represent the overwhelming power of God in the story?

--Yoiko

A: One Piece isn't that deep of a story! (Laughs) That's where I got their names, though.

Q: I'd like to know the name of the old man who gave Usopp rice balls in volume 36. He's a good person. (Cries)

--Nice Old Man

A: Oh, yes. That made me happy. I thanked the old guy even as I drew him. Um...he's a carpenter now, but he used to be Happa--the Bandit with a heart. He moved there from the town of Good Food, Pucci. He's divorced and currently single--meaning he made the rice balls himself. Water Seven's famous dish Water Meat was inside the rice balls, so they tasted good!

Q: Punches aren't supposed to work on Luffy, so why does he get goose eggs and bruises when Nami and the others beat him up?! Please, tell me why!!

--Zolo-rin Love

A: When friends beat on each other it's mostly to teach them a lesson. Their punches work because they're full of compassion! They work on one's heart! Nami probably thinks, "My blows hurt my heart!" Okay, so maybe she doesn't...

Q: Mr. Oda. I'm sending this letter, and our appreciation, from France! I'm writing this as spokesman for more than one thousand fans of One Piece on the Internet. I want everyone to know that One Piece has fans overseas! I especially want Japan's fans to know.

Question: Oda Sensei, do you have any delicious French bread? When the Question Corner starts, I have to eat delicious French bread because I'm French! One last thing: Que la volonté du D soit avec vous, Mr. Oda! (The will of D is with you!!)

--Signe! La Volonté du D" (The Will of D)

A: Whoa... has the Question Corner finally reached the world stage? Thank you for going to all the trouble of sending your letter to the editorial department in Japan. And after crossing national boundaries, that's your question?! Right now, in my house, there is no French Bread! I'd like to have some in France someday, though. I answered your question, but I hear that in France the One Piece graphic novels are about ten volumes behind, so you won't read my answer for another two years. Stay a fan until then! Thank you!!

Q: Odacchi!! These days I'm having trouble sleeping. Kalifa is the only girl in CP9. When she uses the Iron Body technique of the Six Powers, does she bounce? When I go to confirm, I get covered in bubbles... See? Today, too, bubbles smother me... GLUB GLUB... Obajjii! Bind bout bor be!! (Odacchi! Find out for me!!)

--Kyashii Keisuke

A: Yep, today we've got another girl-crazy question from inside Japan. What the--! Are you telling me to go find out instead of you?! You think I'm some kind of peeper?! Be BIBBIN BOUB. (She didn't Bounce.)

That should be all right, shouldn't it? ★ Good luck with your work, Sensei!!

--Exam Student

Parts of each character's name can suggest numbers in Japanese. The reader made up the birthdays by combining the associated numbers.--Ed.

A: Oh... I see... So that's how it is... Hmm... Is there such a thing as Secretary's Day? Hmm... Yeah... Um... Okay, let's go with those dates.

Q: I've got a question! If the Kami Eneru came down to the Blue Sea, how much would the reward for him be? Also, what would happen to the Blue Sea?

--Gorozolo

A: I see. Interesting question. The reward would probably go over 500 million, considering how troublesome Eneru is. Luffy lucked out because he's rubber. But like Luffy said, there are other guys out there on the Blue Sea who surpass him in strength. Eneru can't be No. 1!

Q: Whassup? Nice to meet you, Occhin.
(At my school, we call you Occhin.) Now here's my question. Please tell me how beautiful a person can get with Sanji's Plastic Surgery Shot, which we saw in volume 39, chapter 372.

--34590

A: Really Beautiful. As you can tell from Wanze's example, you can get a Beautiful face equal to those of top international movie stars. But there are two drawbacks. First, Sanji can't kick girls. Also, it's only your face that changes. If you're fat, the Balance will be off--even if your face improves--so it will look weird.

Q: Good work, Mr. Oda! Please answer this unimportant question, which has been bothering me! Manga volumes usually have nine chapters, but One Piece sometimes has 10 or 11. Why is that? The books have recently been kind of thick. The story has been intense too!

--John

A: Okay, I'll take you Behind the scenes. Graphic novels have to have at least 184 pages. Nine chapters are enough, But if I want to include more chapters no matter what (Because I'm selfish) I can force in 10 or 11. Put another way, it's a service for the readers. For me, it's all about the story. Awhile back, when a nine-chapter book followed an eleven-chapter book, readers complained because the books were thinner. Now you know why such things happen. (Laughs)

Q: I've got a question, Oda Sensei! Did you make up the story about Klabautermann that appears in chapter 351 of volume 37, or does such a story actually exist? Please, tell me.

--Someone Sort of Behind the Luffy Pirate Group

A: Numerous legends around the world tell of a ship's spirit. Klabautermann is spoken of among German sailors. In Japan we call a ship's spirit funadama. Maybe it's easiest to think of it as a guardian spirit of ships. It was once believed that if Klabautermann was on a ship, it would sail safely.

Q: When it comes to square things, Kaku and his long nose come to mind, but there's something even more square! In panel 3 along the left-hand side of page 131 in volume 35, there's a guy whose whole head is square! What is he?! Tell me! Don't be a square!

--A Prince Somewhere

A: Yeah, he's there. And I'll tell you, fair and square! His name is...Blockhead! (Is that too off the top of my head?) Let's see...he's extremely pointy-headed, and I hear he loves getting into four-sided debates. And, uh... he hates being cornered. That's the kind of person he is!! (Is that too off the top of my head?) See you next time in the Question Corner!! (It's over already?!)

GENERAL COMMENTS FROM SNIPER KING

COMMENTS

I'LL BE MAKING REMARKS THIS TIME IN USOPP'S PLACE. THREE MEMBERS OF THE NEW RIVALS, CP9, HAVE MADE IT INTO THE TOP 20. BUT THE STRAW HATS, CENTERED ON USOPP, HAVE RANKED AT THE TOP! WHAT ELSE WOULD YOU EXPECT FROM USOPP'S GANG? YOU WON'T BE ABLE TO TAKE YOUR EYES OFF THE STRAW HATS FROM NOW ON EITHER!

THE RANKINGS CONTINUE! TURN THE PAGE FOR 31ST-50TH PLACE, PLUS A RUNDOWN OF 51ST-99TH PLACE THAT WEREN'T ANNOUNCED IN WEEKLY SHONEN JUMP!
